Session on How to prepare yourself to face the competition Session conducted by Dr. Vanita Kaur Khare, on Thursday, 21st July 2022 at 12 PM . She explain the hard work is done and the months of tedious graft have finally began to reach an ultimatum as competition day looms around the corner.

Whilst no improvements in your physicality can be addressed from this point, the final days of preparation can certainly give you that extra per cent, which could very well be the difference between first and second.

While you can't advance your physicality in the short timeframe before race day, your build-up of form can be put to waste in these last few days through poor planning.

No matter what event you take part in, preparing yourself physically and mentally for the task in hand is a necessity if you want the best from yourself come competition day.

Discover the areas that attract the most. In finding this, do not be confined in “being the best” mindset. Instead, identify important areas where you seriously perform better. Then, create a list containing all of those areas.

This session was very interactive and student get lot of input for How to prepare yourself to face the competition. Student get confidence for facing competition in their life. also, students get knowledge how to face competition. 25 students attended this workshop and they got lot of knowledge

Write –Up: “Career Readiness”

DATE: 2nd May 2023 (Tuesday) at 10:00am.

Session on “Career Readiness” by Prof. (Dr.) Madhulika Gupta, on Wednesday, 2nd May 2023 at 10:00AM. Mam has explained about Career Readiness. Career readiness refers to the skills you need to succeed in the workplace. These aren't just the hard skills you need to do a specific job, like how software engineers need programming skills. Instead, career readiness is a mix of transferable skills you can take with you as you progress in your career.

Career readiness equips college students with a range of skills that are desirable in the workforce. This not only includes discipline-specific knowledge but also essential soft skills, such as communication, teamwork, critical thinking, problem-solving, and adaptability.

Career readiness is a foundation from which to demonstrate requisite core competencies that broadly prepare the college educated for success in the workplace and lifelong career management. For new college graduates, career readiness is key to ensuring successful entrance into the workforce.

Many educational institutions, like high schools, community colleges and universities make it a priority to help students prepare for the workforce. Career readiness is a practical approach to this process, aimed at developing key skills for professional success and easing the transition from student to employee. If you're a recent graduate or hoping to enter the workforce, you may benefit from learning about effective career readiness strategies.

There are several competencies involved in career readiness, including:

Director
Dr. D. Y. Patil Centre For
Management and Research
Gate No. 1029/1107 Chikhali Pune - 411 062.

i) Communication Skills:

This training may also help students develop specialized communication skills, like drafting cover letters and building cultural awareness. Examples of communication-focused career readiness activities include group discussions, resume writing assignments and speeches.

ii) Critical thinking skill:

Critical thinking and problem-solving are valuable skills across industries, as employers seek candidates who can make informed decisions in unexpected scenarios. Career readiness programs may aim to educate students about logic and reasoning and data analysis and help them learn how to process information and make unbiased judgments.

iii) Equity and inclusion:

Equity and inclusion are foundational values in many workplaces, and learning how to adapt to different environments, advocate for underrepresented groups and implement inclusion as a personal and professional value may help students affect positive change.

iv) Time management:

It's essential that students understand how to independently manage their schedules after graduation. The ability to manage competing priorities, hold oneself accountable for progress and build productive habits can all contribute to a successful job search and make it easier to meet or exceed expectations once students enter the workforce.

Session on "Soft Skill Development Program for capacity Enhancement (Group Discussions/Seminar on interview)", on Saturday, 27th May 2023 at 12:00 noon.

In today's rapidly evolving professional landscape, technical skills alone are not sufficient for career success. Soft skills, encompassing communication, teamwork, problem-solving, and interpersonal abilities, play a pivotal role in an individual's growth. To address this need, organizations and educational institutions are implementing comprehensive Soft Skill Development Programs. This article delves into the significance of such programs, focusing on two key components: Group Discussions and Seminars on Interview Skills.

Soft skills, often referred to as "people skills" or "emotional intelligence," are the foundation of effective communication and collaboration. They empower individuals to navigate complex work environments, adapt to changes, and build meaningful relationships. In response to the growing demand for professionals with strong soft skills, institutions are offering targeted programs that cultivate these abilities.

Group Discussions: Enhancing Communication and Collaboration:

Group Discussions (GDs) are interactive platforms where participants exchange ideas, viewpoints, and opinions on specific topics. These discussions provide a simulated environment for honing several key soft skills:

Communication: GDs promote clear and articulate expression of thoughts, ideas, and arguments. Participants learn to convey their points effectively and listen actively to others.

Director
Dr. D. Y. Patil Centre For
Management and Research
Gat. No. 402/1/030, Chikhali, Pune - 411 062.

Teamwork: Collaborative problem-solving within a group setting fosters teamwork and the ability to work cohesively towards a common goal.

Critical Thinking: Participants analyze various perspectives presented during GDs, enhancing their critical thinking and decision-making abilities.

Conflict Resolution: Participants encounter differing opinions and learn to manage conflicts diplomatically, an essential skill in professional interactions.

Conclusion:

Soft Skill Development Programs, encompassing Group Discussions and Seminars on Interview Skills, are integral to nurturing well-rounded professionals. As the workforce becomes increasingly diverse and interconnected, the ability to communicate, collaborate, and adapt becomes indispensable. By embracing these programs, individuals equip themselves with the skills needed to excel in their careers and contribute positively to the organizations they serve.

Write –Up: “Career Readlines-Interview Skills”

DATE: 28th June 2023 (Wednesday) at 10:30am.

Session on “Career Readlines-Interview Skills” by Prof. (Dr.) Madhulika Gupta, on Wednesday, 28th June 2023 at 10:30AM. Mam has explained about Career Readlines. In today's competitive job market, having strong interview skills is essential for landing your desired job and building a successful career. A job interview is a crucial opportunity to showcase your qualifications, experiences, and personality to potential employers. To excel in interviews and make a lasting impression, mastering key interview skills is paramount.

i) Research and Preparation:

Before stepping into an interview, thorough research is vital. Understand the company's history, culture, products/services, and recent developments. Tailor your responses to align with the company's values and goals. Research the job role you're applying for and prepare specific examples of how your skills match the position's requirements.

ii) Perfecting Your Elevator Pitch:

Craft a concise and engaging elevator pitch that highlights your background, skills, and what makes you a valuable candidate. This introduction sets the tone for the interview and allows you to quickly establish your value.

iii) Resume Review:

Be ready to discuss your resume in detail. Highlight your achievements, responsibilities, and any relevant experiences. Prepare explanations for gaps in employment or transitions between roles.

iv) Behavioral Questions:

Many interviews include behavioral questions that assess how you've handled specific situations in the past. Use the STAR method (Situation, Task, Action, Result) to structure your responses and provide clear, concise examples of your problem-solving abilities.

v) Communication Skills:

Effective communication is essential. Maintain eye contact, offer a firm handshake, and speak clearly and confidently. Avoid jargon and fillers (such as "um" and "like"). Listen actively to the interviewer's questions and respond thoughtfully.

vi) Body Language:

Nonverbal cues play a significant role in interviews. Maintain good posture, display open body language, and smile genuinely. A positive demeanor can convey your enthusiasm and interest in the position.

vii) Question-Asking Skills:

Prepare insightful questions to ask the interviewer. This demonstrates your interest in the company and the role. Questions about the team, expectations, and company growth can showcase your dedication.

In conclusion, mastering interview skills is an ongoing process that requires preparation, practice, and adaptability. By honing these skills, you can confidently navigate interviews, showcase your strengths, and increase your chances of securing your desired job and advancing your career.
