• Story:

Rajeev Samant's introduction to wines took place during his early years studying at Stanford University and working at Oracle in California, neither grapes nor wine were at the top of his mind when he returned to India in the early 90s. A chance visit to his family's land in Nashik - a region well-known for growing table grapes - in 1994 led to the seed of an idea, and before he knew it, he began pursuing the idea of growing wine grapes in Nashik. His curiosity piqued, Rajeev spent three months at a small winery in California that belonged to his friend and mentor - and now Sula's Master Winemaker - Kerry Damskey.

Industrial visit

- Sahyadri Farms Nashik:
- On Second Day of Industrial Visit (8th February, 2024,) students of MBA & MCA SMDYPS'S ,DYPCMR visited Sahyadri Farms Company.

- About Sahyadri Farms Industries Nashik :

- Sowing the Seeds of Success:

"Alone we can do little; together we can do so much". With this as their belief, four smallholder farmers led by Mr Vilas Shinde took their first steps on a long and purposeful journey. What started as an informal understanding between these smallholder farmers quickly transformed into a movement of farmers which has grown today into the leading fruits & vegetable export company from India servicing over 18,000 registered farmers that cover 31,000 acres and 9 crops.

Sahara's vision was clear: To build people, processes and practices to enable and empower smallholder Indian farmers to compete with the best by cultivating the highest quality fresh produce. Since its inception, Sahyadri remains fully committed to helping farmers overcome the barriers to finance, technology adoption and product value addition.

In time, Sahyadri's self-contained infrastructure encompassed an agro-advisory team, a world-class pack-house, cold storage facility and a technology backbone to help achieve scale meaningfully. Soon enough, Sahyadri Farms became a hub of value addition by building and operating an agro-value chain that was efficient, expedient and innovative.

While building Sahyadri Farms, there was an acute realisation that post-harvest losses not only imply wastage of food but also represent a colossal waste of human labour, agro-inputs, financial investments and scarce resources like water.

The ultra-modern campus of Sahyadri Farms helps farmers access the latest technology and processing infrastructure, follow global best practices and offer the highest quality fresh and processed products to discerning consumers globally.

Site visit

• The Gondeshwar Temple:

On First Day of tour (7th February, 2024) students of MBA & MCA SMDYPS 'S, DYPCMR visited The Gondeshwar Temple Sinnar.

- The Gondeshwar Temple (IAST: Gondeśvara) is an 11th-12th century Hindu temple located in Sinnar, a town in the Nashik district of Maharashtra, India. It features a panchayatana plan; with a main shrine dedicated to Shiva; and four subsidiary shrines dedicated to Surya, Vishnu, Parvati, and Ganesha.
- The Gondeshwar temple was built during the rule of the Seuna (Yadava) dynasty, and is variously dated to either the 11th or the 12th century. Sinnar was a stronghold of the dynasty during their pre-imperial period, and modern historians identify it with Seunapura, a town established by the Yadava king Seunachandra. According to local tradition, the town of Sinnar was established by the Gavali (that is, Yadava) chief Rav Singhuni, and the Gondeshvara temple was commissioned by his son Rav Govinda, at a cost of 200,000 rupees. According to another suggestion, the temple - also known as Govindeshvara (IAST: Govindeśvara) - was built by the Yadava feudatory Govindaraja, but no historical evidence supports this suggestion.
- The total number of participants for the visit were.
- Students:-80 Numbers.
- Staff:-09 Numbers.

The Mineral Museum, Sinner

- On First Day of tour (7th February, 2024) students of MBA & MCA SMDYPS 'S, DYPCMR visited The Mineral Museum, Sinner.
- Gargoti, The Mineral Museum, under the leadership of K.C.Pandey has been working consistently to conserve the neglected Natural Mineral Wealth & Creations of Mother India mainly coming from the Deccan Plateau.
- It's a matter of immense concern that not even 1% of these magnificent Natural Minerals/Crystals/Zeolites can be procured due to lack of knowledge about these minerals to the miners, government as well as to the common population of India.

- Thus, initiating towards the cause of awareness K.C.Pandey in his private capacity has taken the charge of setting up a chain of Museums & Galleries to conserve & display Zeolites, Mineral Crystals, and Fossils & Gem Stones from India & around the World with the prime motive educating the population of India about these hidden & neglected but magnificent creations Mother Nature.
